The jury in Circuit Judge Cooper's court yesterday returned a verdict awarding judgment in favor of Goo Yee, who brought suit to recover $114 from Harry Rosenberg. The jury decided that the opium which Rosenberg obtained from U.S. District Attorney Breckons and sold to the Chinaman was sold fraudulently, and naman, was sold fraudulently, and that the purchaser, who thought he was obtaining opium admitted by the government, was entitled to the return of his money. He was also awarded interest on the $114, dating from the day of the sale, in the fall of 1910. Attorney Bitting, for Rosenberg, declared yesterday morning that he would appeal the case to the su-

HE "AMERICAN TOURIST" (Type 34-A) is built and designed especially for the discriminating buyer who desires a strictly high-grade car of class and distinction, but who is limited—either by requirements or purse—to a mediumpriced car. Built along the general lines of the "American Traveler." It embodies the same cardinal points of superiority -including the underslung frame, low center of gravity, large wheels, straight line drive and low, rakish appearance—that has made the "American Underslung" the acknowledged aristocrat of motor cars.

What greater comfort could be asked than a self-starting electrically lighted car, equipped with a complete electric go erator, handsome plate-glass windshield, $50 Warner 60-m speedometer and an efficient and reliable self-starter? The copleteness of this equipment reflects the care and infinite attar tion to detail so apparent throughout the construction of the

HE "AMERICAN SCOUT" fills the long-felt want for a small car of class and distinction, solidly built throughout, bearing the stamp of quality and careful attention to detail in every part. It will especially appeal to the man or woman whose requirements - business or social - necessitate the use of a two-passenger roadster, but whose pride will not permit the driving of the ordinary type of "runabout." It is a car that you will be proud to own, to have pointed out as "your car." It will attract attention wherever seen-onthe boulevard, at the country club or on the city streets-and lends a tone of refinemen t and distinction to the driver.

The full luxurious equipment is in keeping with the classy appearance of the "American Scout." This equipment includes a handsome plate-glass windshield, $50 Warner speedometer and a reliable Disco self-start er. The finishing touch of refinement and luxury is found in the electric tail and dash lights supplied by a large storage battery and controlled from the dash. The handsome and stylish gas headlights supplied by Prest-O-Lite tank also add dignity and tone to the appearance.

Can you imagine a more complete or "up-to-the-minute" car than the "American Scout?" In addition to the unusually full and complete equipment, do not overlook the straight line drive; underslung frame and unusually large wheels—ack nowledged points of superiority in any car; full-floating rean axle; long and unusually flexible springs; handsome upholstery; fine mohair top and top boot; and, last, but not least, THE MAXIMUM ROAD CLEARANCE OF NINE

AND THREE-QUARTER INCHES UNDER THE ENTIRE CAR. This is distinctly the car for you. The "American Scout" is built to serve and please the discriminating buyer, and it
